

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves the entire scalp. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

WOMEN ARE

"POSSUM HUNTERS" OF KENTUCKY USE HARSH TREATMENT ON SISTERS

Rockport, Ky., March 9.—Feeling intense in Butler county as the result of damage suits filed here by Louella and Katherine Webster, members of a widely known Kentucky family, who declared they were attacked in their homes by a band of "possum hunters," blindfolded, dragged into the cold and then disrobed by the hunters, who afterwards applied the lash to their bare backs.

The suits are for $10,000 each and are against thirty-six wealthy Butler county men.

Persons in the little court were stirred by the pitiable sight of the two women when their suits were filed. Between sobs they told how they had been mistreated. After the hearing, which took place at midnight, they said they were taken back to their homes and above the threshold, where they fell unconscious and remained so until found by relatives.

Open threats were made here last night in connection with the outrages committed by the "possum hunters," who have caused a reign of terror in this section of Kentucky for more than six months.

PATCHES ON FACE
BURNED AND ITCHED

Small, Red and Shiny. White Scales Formed. Very Disfiguring. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Healed.

Carpenter, Miss.—"For years I had been troubled with rough places coming on my face in small patches, then gradually covering it. They would itch and almost make me scream with pain. Then my face would become covered with small white scales or bits of dead skin which would feel very bad. When they began they were small, red and shiny. Then as they enlarged white scales formed and they were very disfiguring. They turned and itched so that I could not sleep from scratching and I could not sleep. The skin scalded and peeled off.

"I tried various remedies but was nearly crazy when some months ago I decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed 24 hours with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment with my fingers several times a day. The first treatment helped the burning and itching and within a week there was no sign of the trouble. Now my face is as smooth and white as anybody's. I am healed."

ORANGE IS THE BATTERY OF HEALTHPOPULARITY OF FRUIT IS DUE TO ITS EXCELLENT
GOODNESS

"The orange is a storage battery of health," says one writer on this subject.

Its popularity, however, is not due to the fact of its health-giving or nutritive qualities—however large or small these may be—but to its rare goodness. As a matter of fact, there is not much food value to an orange, but in this it does not differ materially from most other fruits. But it is so good, and it agrees with so many persons who are not able to eat freely of other fruits, that it deserves a place in the very front rank of food staples.

It has one pleasant peculiarity which often is noted and appreciated. It never harbors worm or insect. And its delicate and juicy pulp is so perfectly protected by the rind that it may be regarded as one of the most hygienic of all fruits.

Of all breakfast fruits it is perhaps the most popular. This is due not only to its delicate and refreshing flavor, but to a sort of subconscious realization on the part of the eater—or drinker—that this golden juice not only helps to please the palate, but plays some part in properly regulating the inner physical workings which determine mental and physical welfare.

While its medicinal qualities never have been very definitely stated, undoubtedly with many persons it serves as a mild liver stimulant, and its sugar is among the most easily digested sweets.

Infants and invalids who can take little or no other food can enjoy and assimilate strained orange juice, and in addition to its delicious flavor it has soothing qualities which render it most grateful to sick and well alike.

TRIPLTS 5
TIMES, TWINS
COME TWICERECORD-BREAKING MOTHER,
10 YEARS MARRIED; TRAV-
ELS ON ONE TICKET

South Bend, Ind., March 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott, who dwell near South Whitley, have gone West to establish a new home. Their hope is to find in Kansas or Oklahoma enough tillable land to provide employment and sustenance for the whole—Scott—family, and it is some family; in fact, a record breaker.

Although married only ten years Mr. and Mrs. Scott are the parents of nineteen children, thirteen of whom are living, all sons and all under the age of 5 years.

As explained by Frank M. Prugh the Scotts hold the record for triplets, five sets having been born to them. There were also two sets of twins.

All Ride on One Ticket. At present the Scotts and their family of sons are at Highland, Kan., but they expect to locate near Muskogee, Okla.

When en route to the West Mrs. Scott boarded a train with her brood and nonplussed the conductor by presenting one first class ticket.

"We can't carry a Sunday school class on one ticket, madam," said the railroad man.

"But they are all my children," declared Mrs. Scott.

"It was necessary for her to show the record in the family Bible to convince the conductor.

Names Begin With "A." In naming the children Mr. and Mrs. Scott showed a partiality for the letter "A." Following are the names and ages:

Ashebell, Archer and Austin, triplets, 4 1/2 years old.

Arthur and Arnold, twins, 3 1/2 years old.

Allen, Almon and Albin, triplets, 2 1/2 years old.

Alfred, Albion and Adolph, triplets, 18 months old.

Abel and Abner, twins, 6 months old.

The reason for this partiality has never been revealed, but a humorist has suggested that the parents contemplated going through the alphabet later. Mrs. Scott is 20 and her husband 31.

BULLET IN
IS SILENTCHILD WILL NOT TELL ON HIS BROTHER WHO SHOT HIM

Kenosha, Wis., March 9.—A tragedy of childhood featuring the loyalty of 10-year-old Stephen Stec to his three year younger brother, Albert, even when he felt death was near, was brought out at the Kenosha hospital today. X-ray pictures showed that the older boy had a bullet from a revolver imbedded to a distance of three inches in the brain matter.

The boy was shot by his younger brother, but after they had agreed to keep secret the story of the shooting Stephen, with the stoicism of a Spartan, had refused to tell the story. When the X-ray picture revealed his secret he sobbed out, "he didn't mean to do it." Then he told the story.

The two boys had been left at home alone. Their father, Albert Stec, a prosperous market man, had warned them never to touch a revolver which lay in a drawer. Little Albert, not yet 6 years old, got the weapon, pointed it at the brother, and pulled the trigger. The bullet entered the back of the other boy's head. The mother, on her return home, found the boy on the floor with his little brother keeping a vigil.

"I'm just tired out," the boy told his mother. She put him to bed and tucked him away under the covers. With the little brother playing about the bed he went off to sleep.

Next morning he appeared sick and remained at home from school. In the afternoon his mother became worried when he failed to recover from drowsiness which had overtaken him and she called Dr. J. N. Palt. The physician made an examination of the boy, but found nothing to account for his condition.

Then he rubbed his hand over his head. The telltale blood revealed the fact that the boy had been injured. With the little brother holding on his coat the boy walked bravely to an automobile and was taken to the Kenosha hospital, when the X-ray machine revealed his secret.

This afternoon at the hospital it was declared that the boy showed no sign of fever and that his pulse was normal.

"The case is a most remarkable one," declared Dr. Palt. "The boy is cheerful and every organ of the body is performing, but at that there is the bullet in his brain. We expect sudden collapse in the case, but a boy as brave as he is should live. The little fellow made no complaint and when the smaller brother was brought to the hospital their greeting was of a most tender nature."

"That big machine gave it away," was the way the injured boy broke the story of his seemingly faithlessness to his trust.

Don't Merely "Stop" a
Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the cough reflex. Treat the cause—loosen the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. It gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in quinine, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

SHAW ASSAILS
ALL DOCTRINES
OF NEUTRALITYMonroe Plan Only a Theory
Backed by Might of the U. S.,
Declares Writer in Condemning
Excuses for Beginning of War

Special Cable to New York American.
London, Feb. 20.—George Bernard Shaw writes the following letter to The Nation:

"Neutrality is an utter humbug. That is my position. There is no such thing as a breach of neutrality, because there is no such thing as neutrality. I hope that is clear enough. The importance of bringing this simple, natural fact home at present arises from three considerations:

"1.—The danger of obscuring the real issues of the war by the false issue of neutrality of Belgium.

"2.—The danger that instead of real terms of peace, fictitious terms in the form of fresh guarantees of neutrality may be accepted as valid.

"3.—General objection to throwing stones when you live in a glass house and are allied to the Eastern Powers, whose whole history is huge cucumber France."

"Those who insist that neutrality is real and sacred are committed by facts to the following proposition:

"1.—Germany has not violated Belgian neutrality, she has made war on Belgium, which her guarantee of Belgium's neutrality is no way abrogated her right to do, and her guarantee of Belgium's neutrality still stands in spite of the war, and actually enables her to treat the violation of it by another power as a casus belli.

"2.—France and England have violated the neutrality of Belgium by invading her and fighting on her soil, though they are not at war with her.

"3.—Germany offered to keep peace with Belgium on condition that a right of way be granted, which Britain was first to demand and enforce by war in China.

"4.—Britain and France refused to respect Belgian neutrality except on conditions which they knew would not be fulfilled and which in any case Belgium could not control; namely, that Germany would keep peace with Belgium.

"5.—Germany offered peace in Belgium.

"6.—Great Britain ordered war perpetually.

"7.—I defy any international jurist to put a creditable complexion on the propositions except by showing they are the reduction ad absurdum of the theory of neutrality, and admitting that Belgium might as well have been a free country as a neutral one for all the use the guarantee proved."

"And because I was not dumb by that theory, I have set myself, first, to discredit the Belgian pretext for war."

"If you are the mother the father, sister or brother, wife or sweetheart, husband or lover of a drug fiend the days of your tears over that loved one have passed. There is a new day ahead. The love which you have thought lost and the cares which have troubled you for these many years are a thing of the past. Your loved one will be returned to you."

An act which became effective on the first day of this month has provided means for this evolution and under its proper application you will no longer have to fear that horror which lurks in the little blue bottle, the tiny round box or the small envelope which is often hidden from your view, but which produces those sights which are indelible.

"Does it mean all of this to me?" said a little woman with the cravings of care upon her brow, to a federal officer this morning. "Does it mean that Jack, my only boy, will no longer be able to satisfy that hunger which has broken his health and mind and my spirit? Does it mean that I have been one of the last to lose the happy years of my life with a child for whom I had hoped so much, I can not realize that others, other boys will be protected. Oh, if I could have only had something like it before! I could have saved so much, the heart and mind of my son. I would not be as I now am. But it has not come too late."

"I thank God that there is yet time left for me to see the wonders of its power, the results of its workings in putting an end to the existence of those unscrupulous men and women who make a living by stunting the very lives of our loved ones."

And as this woman feels, so probably do thousands of others in Oklahoma. In this city there are probably men and women of all classes who see before them days free from the misery caused by drug and its results.

The new law, which will have such effect is known as the internal revenue regulation number 35 and is a law relating to the production, importation, manufacture, compounding, sale, dispensing or giving away of opium or coca leaves, their salts, decoctions, tinctures and other preparations.

It became effective on the first day of this month and provides that those who are liable under this law shall file a registration blank with the collector of internal revenues and that it shall be unlawful for any one to obtain by means of said order form any of the drugs for any purpose other than the sale or distributor in the lawful business or practice of a profession.

It further provides that it shall be unlawful for any persons not registered under the provisions of the act and who has not paid the special tax provided for by this act to have in his possession or under his control any of the aforesaid drugs; and such possession shall be presumptive evidence of a violation of this section and also of a violation of the provisions of section one of the act.

It is provided that the section shall not apply to any employee of a registered person, to a nurse under the supervision of a physician, dentist or veterinarian surgeon, registered under the act, having such possession or control by virtue of his employment or occupation and not on his own account; or to the possession of any of the aforesaid drugs which have been prescribed in good faith by a physician, dentist, or veterinarian surgeon registered under the act, or to any United States state, county, municipal, district, territorial or insular officer or official who has possession of any said drugs, by reason of his official duties, or to a warehouseman holding possession for a person registered under the act or to common carriers engaged in transporting such drugs.

Provided further that it shall not be necessary to negative any of the aforesaid exemptions in any commodity, information, indictment or other writ or proceeding held or brought under the act, and the burden of proof of any such exemption shall be upon the defendant.

Any person who violates or fails to comply with any of the requirements of the act shall on conviction be fined not more than $2,000 or be imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

to induce our ministers and newspapers to drop it.

"I did so even before the documents found in Brussels by Germans left the Foreign Office so completely bowled out on the Belgian point by the German Chancellor, that it had not a word to say and was reduced to hiring a street boy to put out his tongue at him. That was what came of not taking my advice and evacuating an untenable position."

ASSAILS MONROE DOCTRINE.

"I pass on to the Monroe Doctrine cited as the supreme modern test of neutrality. The Monroe Doctrine is a baldness. It is not a doctrine at all. Its validity to any intelligent person is exactly what it was to Cortez and Pizarro and the dayflower pilgrims, to Clive and Duplex, William the Conqueror, Caesar, Napoleon, Henry VIII, John in Canada, Henry V, in France, Kitchener, in the Sudan; Kruger and Cecil Rhodes in South Africa; Strongbow, in Ireland; Edward in Scotland; Russia, in Siberia.

"Japan, in the advance she has taken of the war to make the starting

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW.

Frederician grab in Mongolia and Manchuria, which has just landed out after months' concealment by our Government.

"I have as much right to annex and ravage the state of Colorado as Rockefeller. If the British Empire ever decides to annex the United States, say with a view to improving the local government it will not take the slightest notice of the Monroe Doctrine, nor will public opinion of the world be in the very faintest degree biased against it by such a threat."

IN REFERENCE TO CANADA.

"If the United States should ever decide to annex Canada on the ground that the Monroe Doctrine obviously requires exclusion of Britain from the North American Continent, they have to take exactly the same steps as if the Monroe Doctrine never had been formulated or thought of. The Monroe Doctrine did not help the soldiers against the white man, and it did not help the redskins' conquerors. When it turns comes the Monroe Doctrine is a toes, and everybody knows it."

From the New York American of February 21.

"Why is it that European militarists who annex every country they can conquer, are not at all likely to annex America and even pretend to respect the Monroe Doctrine as an excuse for not trying to? Because they are afraid of the army and navy of the people of the United States."

"Why did Germany make war on Belgium? Because she was afraid to delay the rush to Paris by attacking France through Lorraine and Alsace. Why did she attack France? Because she was terrified by Russian mobilization and afraid France would strike her from behind when she was attacked by Russia."

"Why did we attack Germany? Because we were afraid of her growing naval strength and believed she would be irresistible if she conquered."

FIGHTING BECAUSE OF FEAR.

"Russia and France thus left us without effective allies. Frightened animals are dangerous, and man is no exception. We in the West of Europe are all fighting because we were afraid not to. If the war is to be concluded on ethical principles of any sort, this is a fighting solely to gratify our vanity would have been if there had been no war. Victory or defeat of the belligerents will not alter by one jot or tittle either justice, human rights, ethnology, religion or language."

"If England is right, defeat will not put her in wrong. If Germany is in the wrong victory will leave her more in the wrong than ever. The day for believing the judgment of God is given through the ordeal of battle is gone by. European-Americans professing such belief nowadays, in the time of peace would be removed to an asylum. We are fighting solely to gratify our vanity, satisfy our pride. That is for the good of our souls, this is the real glory of war, but it is important that we be able to stop when we have enough of it."

AN OPEN PROPOSITION.

"Neutrality and Monroe's folly being thus belated to Saturn, what is left to do was found unmasked by their disappearance. Simply that it opens to any government or combination of governments that declare it to make war on any State that invades certain specified territory."

"No government can possibly have or acquire any right to do such thing, but all States have the means to make their threat good. Their right will be accepted, perforce, as an effective, practical substitute for their right, but nothing can give that might the validity of right."

"Russia, Germany and Great Britain had the power to set up Belgium as a buffer State against France and make France accept the arrangement. Britain had the power to maintain Africa as a buffer State against Russia, Morocco as a buffer State between Gibraltar and possible fortification of the opposite pillar of Hercules by a base in the Straits of Gibraltar, and to have Britain out in Morocco by abandoning Egypt to her, neither party having the smallest right to either Egypt or Morocco except the right of their own will to be a buffer State."

"If you come to rights other than the right of sword, which is right, pure and simple, only the Belgians have any right in Belgium and the so-called neutrals of Belgium by dictating her foreign policy, or rather refusing to allow her to have any foreign policy, and then failing to save her from being overrun by Germany, have more reason to blush at the mention of her name than to invite the admiration of the world for their good faith to her. Of all her devastators and looters, Germany has the most cause to boast. She, at least, has been victorious, but they had better take the hint from Lady Tazie, and leave neutrality out of the question."
